2 Explanation

2.1 S Tier

2.1.1 Lesbian

Starting off at the top of S tier, we have lesbians. It's pretty self explanatory. Women (based) that are into women (based). Truly the most optimal sexuality you can get. (Endorsed by Marijn).

2.1.2 Sapphic

For those not in the know, sapphic is the term for any wuhluhwuh people, which is also the correct choice, and has a bonus of a cool name lore and flag.

2.1.3 Asexual/Aromantic

Aro/ace people to me are like the sigmas of sexualities. Just refuse to participate in all this stuff and go on with your day. It's so based, I have so much respect for asexuals and aromantics.

2.1.4 Bisexual (woman) (endgame)

The "endgame" is a term I have invented given the decently common pattern of bi women ending up with women eventually. So this is basically just women dating women but one or two of them also happen to like men, which is based.

2.1.5 Any (NB)

This whole set is in S simply because NB people are just based by nature, and it won't really matter what gender they like, since they'll still stay based even if they're men likers. Also, hot take but all NBs are straight since gender is a continuous spectrum and by the definition of continuous probability, the chance of finding someone with the same exact gender is 0.

2.1.6 Demisexual

Again, to inform those not in the know, demisexuality means you only experience sexual attraction after forming a close emotional bond with someone. This is based and kind of how I feel most of the time...

2.2 A tier

2.2.1 Bisexual (woman) (starting out)

Drawing on the classification established in Bisexual (woman) (endgame), this tier refers to bisexual women pre-woman-dating. Therefore, it's more based than straight women, but less based than bi endgame women. Also it's obviously more based than any men sexualities.

2.2.2 Omnisexual

I honestly don't really get what the point of the distinction between this and bi, since according to google, it's just attraction to more than one but not necessarily all genders. Seems cool tho, flag's pretty.

2.2.3 Polysexual

The name here is confusing, it's not to do with polyamory but apparently another weird bisexual-adjacent term and I also don't get the point of the distinction, but I can't judge too harshly just because I don't get it. Flag less pretty than omnisexual though.

2.2.4 Pansexual

Similarly to the other two, I do not have a sample size large enough to judge this sexuality either very positively or very negatively. It is in low A tier because Maya dated a pan girl once and she was weird (the girl, not Maya (although Maya is weird too)).

2.3 B Tier

2.3.1 Straight (woman)

B tier starts off with straight women, since I couldn't possibly place any women below high B. But, since there is no women liking here, it also cannot go farther up than this. My condolences to all straight women for what you have to go through. Maybe one day they'll make reverse conversion therapy.

2.3.2 Straight (man)

Straight men lose points by being men, but regain them by liking women, therefore purely AS A SEXUALITY (NOT THE GROUP OF PEOPLE AS A WHOLE), they earn a spot in mid B tier.

2.3.3 Bisexual (man)

The previous argument also downgrades bi men (again only as a sexuality, not group, since as a group they're usually a bit nicer than their straight counterparts) a bit below straight men, since they lose out some points by also liking men.

2.3.4 Polyamorous

I am way too much of a jealous baby to even think about polyamory, which may be a hot take in the Koornbeurs, sorry to the poly peeps but man I could never. Again, judging purely on sexuality, not the people representing it, unfortunately it ends up in low B, but I would never put it in C or lower.

2.4 C Tier

2.4.1 Gay

Very simply, this is the worst of the normal basic non-evil options, since it loses points on both sides, it's being a man (bad) and liking men (bad). Very sad stuff. Also MLM stole the lesbian flag and made it toothpaste, not a fan.

2.4.2 Achillean

Achillean is the toothpasted version of sapphic, and it's funny to me because it's such a goofy copy, they took a gay Greek and called it that, and again, toothpasted the sapphic flag. Not very nice but hey ancient Greece is cool.

2.5 D Tier

2.5.1 Ceterosexual

This term was, to my understanding, invented to either normalise or obfuscate chaserism. It's literally just attraction to exclusively trans/NB/queer people. That feels weird so it ends up in D, but it's still less evil than what lies in F.

2.6 F(ake) Tier

2.6.1 "Super Straight"

I believe that the whole super straight movement was some sort of CIA psyop because it is so stupid and uncalled for. Nobody ever demanded people to have no genital preference, nobody cared, and then a pornhub-coloured flag (sometimes with Nazi symbolism) started popping up a few years ago, and then promptly vanished from the face of the Earth. I only remembered it existed because Norah sent me a list of some sexualities to consider. Needless to say, weird right wing attention seeking, not a sexuality.

3 Closing remarks

This is obviously a shitpost, I don't actually hate gay people. Please don't stone me. But, if you are interested in misandry, feel free to reach out. I am assembling a dispuut of likeminded individuals :)
